Braddock Named Cattleman Head For Second Time

BELLE GLADE — History had a way of repeating itself this week when Roscoe Lee Braddock, Belle Glade, was elected president of the Palm Beach County Cattleman's Association.

Braddock, who was first president of the association when it was formed 16 years ago, was elected at a meeting in Mayo Pavilion in the Everglades Experiment Station. He was named at the conclusion of the station's annual Field Day program.

Braddock succeeds George Wedgworth, Belle Glade, who was elected vice president.

Others elected, all for one-year terms, include: Dr. Clarence W. Kidder, Belle Glade, representative to the State Cattleman's Association; H. L. Speer, Pahokee, secretary-treasurer, and Ray Baultrick and Grady Boynton, both of Pahokee; Tom Conners, Lake Worth, and Buster Ingram, Belle Glade, directors.

The Field Day program emphasized the importance of proper pastures and silage in the raising of cattle.

County Agent M. U. Mounts served as moderator for a question panel at the morning session. This was followed by a barbecue served by the Palm Beach Cattleman's Association at noon, and a tour of pasture and grass plots in the afternoon.

Summary of the week's sales follows:

Combined sales: 727 cattle, $63,793.78.

Pahokee Council Nixes Trailers

PAHOKEE — With seven Bacon Point Rd. property holders voicing objections to proposed rezoning, to permit a trailer park on the D. S. Spooner property on the road, Pahokee City Council Monday night denied the request.

Major objections were that the ridge lots along the road are the only choice residential sites left in town, and residents wish to keep them separate from any commercial activity, and that sanitation and water problems would be another obstacle.

Councilmen Loren Meredith, R. B. Simonson, James H. Wilkinson, Jr., Blanche Armstrong, and George H. Tucker, Jr., were on hand for the rezoning hearing. City Clerk Dorothy Graham reported.

Belle Glade Plans Adult Instruction

BELLE GLADE — Evening classes for adults in typing and bookkeeping are being planned by the Palm Beach County Vocational School, in cooperation with Frank O. Hobson, principal of Belle Glade High School.

Courses are scheduled tentatively to start this month. Persons interested in this instruction have been urged to call the high school so that classes may be set up according to the demands of the community.

Only those classes with a minimum of 20 advance registrations will be offered.

The proposed instruction is part of the school board's vocational education program and is for persons 16 years of age or over who are not regularly enrolled in high school. No tuition fee will be charged. However, there will be a small registration fee, it was explained.

LT. EDWARD STANLEY

MAKES FIRST SOLO - Navy Lt. (jg) Edward E. Stanley, son of Mrs. Ralph C. Stanley, Pahokee, and husband of the former Miss Lois Lucile Echols, Pensacola, has made his first solo plane flight at the Whiting Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Milton, Fla. He attended the University of Florida before entering the service.

Emmett Roberts To Run Again

A second term as state representative from Palm Beach County, Group 2, will be sought by the Glades' Emmett Roberts, he announced this week.

With no opposition as yet announced, Roberts will be a candidate in the May 8 Democratic primary, with little chance of defeat by a Republican in the November election.

Roberts served his first term in the 1955 state legislature and, along with the other members of the Palm Beach County delegation, was recognized as one of the two outstanding legislative delegations in the state. As a member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, he was able to assist materially in the delegation's getting the $1,047,000 allotted to our Palm Beach Junior College Construction program. He was also floor leader for securing the $2,523,000 for the continuation of the Central and South Florida Flood Control program, and co-sponsor of the bill which provides for the early construction of a $100,000 National Guard units in Western Palm Beach County.

Roberts was appointed by Governor Collins to be chairman of a Citizens Advisory Committee to study conditions in the migrant agricultural labor field. He is presently conducting public hearings throughout the state.

"I pledge to you my continued sincere efforts towards representing the citizens of Palm Beach County in a manner that will command the respect and support of the other members of the legislature as well as bringing to you the best that our citizens," Roberts said in announcing.

Bogus Solicitor Draws Warning

The county commission this week asked law enforcement officers to stop the reported use of the county commission name in selling advertising for a "county directory."

Commissioner Kenneth Foster said someone had launched a telephone sales campaign to get advertising in a directory of county information, and that the callers were misrepresenting themselves in that they reportedly are telling prospective advertisers that the book is being sponsored by the commission.

"The salesman," Foster said, "told one of my friends that the commission had no funds to publish the book so it was being done for them."

Foster emphasized that the commission has nothing to do with the publication and that he for one "wanted to see it stopped before it's started."

Popularity Of Voting Machines On Increase

JACKSONVILLE — Nearly one-third of Florida's voters will cast their votes in the spring primaries on voting machines.

Fifteen counties, including Palm Beach county, now have machines and six others have accepted an offer of the Shoup Voting Machine Corp. to use the machines if voters prefer them.

January Is Tops

Glades Building Hits Phenomenal Figure, Inspectors Disclose

January was a big month for public and commercial building in the Glades, according to permits issued in Belle Glade and Pahokee by the respective city building inspectors, W. L. Cunningham, sr., and Frank Thompson.

Top item was the start of the long-awaited public health centers in each city. More than two years have elapsed since planning for the Pahokee center began, and nearly that long for the Belle Glade building.

Being built under the Hill-Burton Act, which provides for the cost to be shared by federal, state-county, and city governments, the structures will house the public health offices and staff of the Glades. Cost of the Belle Glade center will be $24,697, according to the permit issued, and Pahokee's new building will total $22,000.

Belle Glade's building for January totalled $84,157 in value of permits issued, Cunningham said. This is an increase of $68,229 over January 1955. The city inspector said that the big rise was a "phenomenon" because January the previous year had been considerably off for no apparent reason. He said he would wait for the February total before deciding whether the first month's rise this year was the beginning of a trend or just an unusual January contrast.

A permit was issued at $10,000 for the new Glades Jewish Community Center, and for one home and one duplex. Cunningham reported, plus various additions and repairs.

In Pahokee major permits issued in addition to the health center were for a new Dairy Queen on the Lait property on E. Main St., and for a 7-up warehouse adjacent to the Pahokee Farmers Market, Thompson said.

Passion Play To Open Season In Lake Wales

LAKE WALES — The Black Hills Passion Play will open its Florida season with a matinee in the outdoor amphitheater here on February 15.

Church Census Planned Feb. 26

PAHOKEE — A community-wide religious census is being planned for Sunday, Feb. 26, by pastors of all churches in Pahokee. Purpose of the census is to locate newcomers to the community and to learn the religious affiliation or preference of those living here.

Preliminary plans for the census were made at a meeting of the ministers at the First Baptist Church, attending were Rev. James Boyd, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Rev. Kenneth Price, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, Rev. Lewis McKee, pastor of the Church of God, and Rev. A. D. Houghlin, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Present plans call for a luncheon at 1 p. m. Feb. 26 at the First Baptist Church for all workers who will canvass the community.

In order to complete the task in one afternoon, it will be necessary that 50 to 100 persons volunteer for the survey. All who can give some time to their church that afternoon have been urged to contact their pastors or Sunday School superintendents.

Crawford Resigns Post

CANAL POINT — Carl Crawford resigned as secretary of the Canal Point Lions Club at the weekly meeting in the Community Hall. Kyle Scott was named to succeed him.

HELP FOR CATTLEMEN

—By the time this item appears, cattlemen in 17 South Florida counties probably will be eligible for emergency relief because of the devastating cold weather. Congressmen Paul Rogers flew to Florida; surveyed the damage, and attended a cattlemen's meeting in Moore Haven—result, however, is that Uncle Sam be asked for help.

Help will come in the form of a donation to the cattlemen of $20 a ton for all of the feed they will have to buy to feed their stock. Request was for 90 days of this relief, but prospect is that the government will grant only 60 days—with the possibility of extending it at the end of that time if the grasslands still are not able to support the livestock.

SUPER DIPLOMAT — When Panama named Dr. Don Josem Jose Vallarino to be Ambassador to the United States—somebody knew what he was doing. The Ambassador is a real diplomat. Grey hair, tiny close trimmed grey mustache, and just enough accent to let you know he is from Latin America.

He was honored guest at the annual Florida Congress—great luncheon last week. The Washington newsman who wrote for Florida newspapers was there. Dr. Vallarino was present with three members of the Panamanian Legislature: Max E. Henriquez, president of the legislature; Innocencio Galindo and Jorge Iliaca.

All the guests (including the newsmen) were called on for a few words. Speeches in other words. The Ambassador stole the show. In three minutes of carefully chosen words, he suggested that perhaps Panama might qualify as a "province" of Florida and the United States.

He spoke of the various sections of Florida as though he were a native. He certainly did sound like one. He admitted that he at one time had lived in California, but covered up quickly and diplomatically by saying "California" was much, but no one in Florida will ever have to bow to California.

BIG PARTY — High society event of the year among the Florida colony in Washington is the annual Florida State Society reception for the Florida Congressional delegation. Today's the day. The place: Kenwood Country Club. Dress: informal. Committee in charge, Floridians in Washington, Jim Sharon, Tom Fuller, and Jim Eckhart—and co-favorite, Bob Williamson, the president.

LITTLE PARTY — An orange juice, Coca-Cola, coffee-break party was staged last Friday in the office of Congressman Paul Rogers. Occasion was a welcome for Rogers' new administrative assistant and his wife, Gene and Jean Robinson. All members of the Florida delegation and their personnel plus the newspaper people were invited. A fine time.

FLORIDA REPUBLICAN'S ACTIVE — A Young Republican Leadership Training School was held here last week. Up from Florida came two Jacksonville young men: Herman Greenwalt, state chairman of the Young Republicans and Thomas A. Larkin, attorney, vice president of the Republican Club of Duval County.

In addition to attending the sessions of the Training School Larkin conferred with Postmaster General Somerfield. Biggest political plum in Jacksonville right now is the job for postmaster—so that visit figures.

It will be interesting to see whether or not an attempt was made to by-pass State Chairman C. C. Spades, of St. Augustine—and whether or not the by-pass attempt will work.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Sen. George Smathers

WASHINGTON — The Young Democrats testimonial dinner at Miami Jan. 29 marked one of the high points in my congressional tenure, and I want to express my deepest appreciation to the Dade County Young Democrats and to my many friends who attended the dinner and conferred honor upon me.

Guests included six of my esteemed colleagues—Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, Dick Russell, Senator Symington, Warren Magnuson, Albert Gore, and John Kennedy—and Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. In their remarks, it was especially gratifying to hear Paul Butler call for unqualified support of my senator in leading the Democratic party back to victory in Florida.

Over 20 Senators also sent words of congratulations, including one from my fine Florida colleague, Senator Holland, who was unable to attend in the press of hearings in his Agriculture Committee.

BRINK OF WAR — Few comments have stirred such national controversy as Secretary of State Dulles' report in Life how three times he went to the "brink of war" in checking the Communist advances. It seems to me that the vital point in this situation has been missed almost entirely.

Secretary of State Wilson has said he did not consider the nation was at the brink of war. The contradiction emerges in plain clarity. While Secretary Dulles charged thrice bravely to the brink of war, Wilson's cabinet members, Mr. Wilson, was looting billions off the national defense program.

In my judgment, the contradictory policies of the two departments warrant investigation by a Senate committee.

Moreover, the entire national defense program should be reviewed. The second best military establishment is not enough. Survival is at stake.

SALK VACCINE — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has issued a detailed report on the Salk vaccine, which brings good news, especially to Florida where polio was so recently in epidemic proportion.

The report relates that field studies confirm laboratory findings that the vaccine is safe and effective.

RADIO AND TV — In my last weekly television and radio program, I interviewed Sen. Hiram Byrd, the great Virginia spokesman for economy in government. We discussed balance of the budget, reducing the federal payroll, federal aid for schools and roads, and legislation apportioning sugar quotas.

NOTES — The Health Department has approved the initial application for a Washington county health center at Defunk Springs, at an estimated cost of $45,000. The federal share would be $42,250. We shall continue working for this project. My able staffer, Helen Gore, returned to the Washington office after working in Jacksonville during adjournment.

FREEZE — The last newsletter reported that emergency credit had been provided for the Department of Agriculture to stricken farmers in Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties, where damage to truck crops was so heavy in the recent freeze. The Florida delegation is now working to get help from the department for cattlemen whose grasses were destroyed by the sub-freezing temperatures.

FLY TO NASSAU — Scheduled for Feb. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1956. Call 3-6441.

BY SCHATZI

So I pawed up the shelves for my dictionary again. It was not my idea, no indeed, for Boss No. 2 to buy a game called "Scrabble" to bring home from Ohio for Boss No. 1.

By the time we had struggled onto the Rickenbacker Alhambra Delight, which hopefully would wing us back to Florida, we had amassed two suitcases, a typewriter, a coat, three books, me—and the Scrabble set.

The boss, grumbling at the $3 overweight luggage charge, said we should have thrown away the suitcases. I knew that we should have thrown away the Scrabble set instead.

Now my dictionary defines "scrabble" thus: "to scrape, paw, or scratch with the hands or feet. To struggle by pawing or scratching with the hands. To clamber or scramble. To fumble; to scrawl."

At first I didn't figured just how all this applies to the game "Scrabble." This is the game in which little lettered squares are played on a board to form words. Two, three or four people can play it. I don't know a dog that would want to.

Well, when Boss No. 2 presented Boss No. 1 with this Scrabble set, No. 1 murmured, "Curly, if you'll beat me all hollow and No. 2 replied, with I thought considerable false modesty, not at all not at all.

They set out to play. Turns out with brooding silences as each player worries over, for instance, how to make "d," and "g" into a word. The name for the game apparently comes from the action of each player, who paws and claws or "scrabbles" in a bag or box for new letters. The bosses used an old blue sock, themselves, for their scrabbling.

Boss No. 1 won the first game, and then the fun began. Beginner's luck, muttered No. 2, in the true spirit of all who are beaten at games by novices. The second game was a real dilly. No. 2, with fire in her eyes, scratched all over the board, and finally won. The murrers about beginner's luck had almost subsided, when the end and playoff game began.

I hesitate to continue. Boss No. 1 beat Boss No. 2 so badly that even I was embarrassed.

Nobody said anything more about beginner's luck. Boss No. 2 is staying up nights reading Roger's Thesaurus, Webster's Dictionary of Synonyms, and Thorndike-Barnhart. And Boss No. 1 keeps several "Scrabble" letters in her pocket and tosses them in the air now and then, humming to herself.

It's back to poker for me.

Stieber Likes Florida

The great artist, it is reported, will be house hunting when she visits Clearwater on Feb. 6 in the third of a series of concerts under the auspices of George Carr New York Concerts. The Steber program will be presented at the Clearwater High School auditorium.

Farmers Are Advised
To Buy Fertilizer Now
GAINESVILLE — Assume yourself of an ample spring supply of fertilizer by buying it now, says J. R. Henderson, Florida Agricultural Extension Service agronomist.

Although there's no shortage of fertilizer nationally, fertilizer might be hard to get in some areas in the spring, due to scarcity of storage facilities, transportation tieups and failure to anticipate farmers' requirements.

Early placing of orders will avoid such a situation.

Memo From The Editor:

The literary fertility of Jacksonville's Frank G. Slaughter brought forth yesterday from Doubleday & Company, Inc. "The Scarlet Cord," another colorful biblical novel.

Dr. Slaughter's "Song of Ruth" continues to be discovered by new readers, but "The Scarlet Cord" should afford record competition!

This is the story of Rahab, the woman of Jericho, and Joshua, leader of the Israelites. It opens with the invasion of the Amorite lands and moves colorfully to the climactic fall of Jericho to the forces of Joshua.

Dr. Slaughter's genius for putting "something for everybody" in his biblical works again is obvious. The discussions of faith and beliefs—between Rahab and Salmon, the physician—are thought-provoking delineations of the early religions; the descriptions of pagan rites are colorful and sometimes chilling. The medical-minded will get a clear picture of some of the treatments of biblical times, and the romantics are given a detailed account of Rahab's love for the great leader which existed through all her fortunes, ill and good.

Accounts of the battles, including the tremendous story of the siege and fall of Jericho show considerable research by the author into everything from armoring to strategy. The title of the book, "The Scarlet Cord," is the means by which Rahab and her household are spared when Joshua's forces sweep into Jericho invoking herem—the curse of Israel—against the city. Dr. Slaughter prefaces his book from Joshua 2:18-19: "Behold, when we come into the land, you shall bind this scarlet cord in the window through which you let us down..."

Edward Mueller, representative of the State Road Department, told the county commission that traffic survey headquarters have been established at 526 Northwest Road in West Palm Beach and would probably be in operation for six months.

Mueller said between 20 and 30 residents were hired to conduct initial studies for the survey and that additional interviewers—most of them women—will be hired in about two weeks to make house-to-house interviews.

The first group of interviewers will be stationed on main highways to question motorists.

The State Road Department representatives said two engineers are being assigned here to supervise the work.

The commission made plans to have every municipality in the county designate a member of its official family to serve as a liaison representative for this survey and to help expedite the project.

Farm Inventory Will Be Revealing

GAINESVILLE — A farm inventory at this time of year will tell more—in proportion to the time it takes to make it—than almost any other type of farm financial record.

So says Dr. E. W. Calk, Florida Agricultural Extension service farm economist.

The inventory is the basic record upon which all other farm bookkeeping depends and will show net worth above all debts, Dr. Calk says.

It will show whether you are getting ahead financially and by how much; it makes a good foundation for preparing a credit statement; it helps to put the farm on a business basis and provides a valuable list of property in case of a fire or if an estate must be settled. An inventory also helps to recognize the value of complete business records.

After two inventories, Dr. Calk says, assets, liabilities and changes in net worth can be compared. Such a study will reveal improvements or declines, and the reasons why.

It will show distribution of assets and liabilities and relative trends of production and unproductive uses of capital. Other records of receipts and expenses show whether the operation has produced profits or losses.

The grand jury recently recommended that the commission make more money available for the investigation which has been going on since the jurist and his wife mysteriously disappeared last June.

At the present time, State Attorney Phil O'Connell and Sheriff John Kirk are screening applicants for an investigation to succeed a man who has been on the case several months but who has left to go to school.

The commission recently advised Gov. LeRoy Collins that additional funds would be made available for the investigation and this action was reaffirmed by the board Monday when it voted to concur in the employment of a new investigator.

In other actions the board: Requested the city of West Palm Beach, when extending the mains of its water company into suburban areas, to provide mains large enough to give fire protection.

Asked the U.S. Air Force to reconsider the county's request for use of lands for restrictions on use of the lands be lessened.

Granted a check for $7,000 from the state for insurance agency licenses in Palm Beach County.

Noted that architects' plans for a new National Guard Armory at Belle Glade are being reviewed by the commission.

Approved a check for $11 for a discussion of mutual problems.

Asked the county attorney to determine if the commission could lawfully authorize and advertise rewards to be given to persons giving information to the commission.

Noted that a joint meeting of the commission and the State Turnpike Authority is being planned for next week of Feb. 5, and that final approval of the plans is expected in a short time.

Pahokee PM Asks Better Addresses

PAHOKEE — The fact that so few local people have been using box numbers or other local addresses on their mail is becoming an increasingly serious problem at the local post office, Postmaster E. A. Jensen said.

He asked that business people and local residents use their box numbers on letters, bills, notices and return address envelopes, to help service the 723 boxes. Completely addressed mail is distributed at least twice as fast as mail which contains no local address, which with a much higher degree of accuracy.

With postal receipts increasing more than 100 percent in the past 15 years, most mail is now distributed at $13.0835 to $26.8339, the work load has almost doubled without an increase in help in the post office, Jensen said.

The department is trying to reduce operating costs while producing still better service.

One way to improve service will be for no one, no matter how long he has held a box at the post office, to assume that all employees including at least one new and inexperienced staff member, know offhand the box number of any local resident.

"We can correct your mailing list for 1 cent apiece, or a minimum of 25 cents if it contains less than 25 names. This is less than our cost for the clerks' hours used in order to keep a mailing list up to date it is desirable to have it corrected at least once a year. If you will call or inquire when you are in the office, we can give you more detailed information regarding this service," said the postmaster.

County Seeking Industrial Sites

Possibility that Palm Beach County's preliminary zoning surveys will be advanced far enough to designate areas for industrial sites within the county was reported by County Commissioner Roy Michael.

Michael has been named by the board to determine the types of data are available in the county that could be used to encourage new industry to move here.

One of the principal bottlenecks, Michael said, is present inability of any group or agency to designate areas for industrial sites with the knowledge that such designation wouldn't be changed by future zoning laws.

The county is presently engaged in preparing zoning laws for all county areas and it is this survey which Michael said would be able to furnish some information by early spring.

He told the commission he had already met with the West Palm Beach Chamber of Commerce industrial committee and plans similar meetings with other chambers groups in the county.

Michael's study will be used by the board in an attempt to establish a clearing house where all types of data and information can be made available to promote new industry settling in Palm Beach county.
